

Do persons not subject to corporate tax have to withhold it on payments made to non-residents? 3/49/22

Section 5(1) of the Corporate Income Tax (CIT) Act lists payments made to non-residents that are taxable at source. Section 2(2) lists persons that are not subject to CIT. In practice this raises the question of whether non-CIT payers are liable to withhold it on payments made to non-residents. This article answers the question.
