

France includes most favoured nation clause in double tax treaty with Latvia 3/49/24

Having a network of double tax treaties (DTTs) helps countries work together when it comes to taxes, as DTTs aim to prevent the double taxation of income earned by individuals or companies doing business in two or more countries. As for the latest developments in international taxation, in this article we will take a closer look at the technical aspects of the most-favoured-nation (MFN) clause, which is found in just a few DTTs and from October 2024 has been implemented in the DTT between France and Latvia. We will also look at the significance of the MFN regime for French companies wishing to expand their operations in Latvia.
